

ABSTRACT

In a condition the somebody require information from an information source is hence needed a set the communication means functioning to fulfill that need. Wireless is communications without cable using radio as short-haul media transmission. Communication with wireless media represent one solution to facilitate in communicating.