

ABSTRACT

Fiqh is the science that study the law of God from Mandatory, Sunnah, Permissible, Makruh, and Haram which excavated from the obvious arguments (tafshil), Islamic Fiqh as the shari'ah laws that govern the actions and words mukallaf have a strong attachment to the faith against God and the pillars of the other Islamic Aqeedah.

Learning Fiqh is needed to guide Muslims to worship in the right way, fiqh should be taught when they were children, so that children know what it's like to worship and make an obligation that has become a habit, but in this era of all-round technology children are busy playing with gadgets that make them lazy to learn.

To answer the problems, the authors tried to obtain the required data through observation method on the object of research, library research, interview relevant sources and distributing questionnaires to the respondents who represent the target audience to be targeted. Once the data is obtained, then the author did the designing the new way to learn Fiqh through androin smartphone application.

Hopefully, by the design of this Final, will be able to help children to learn basic Islamic Fiqh. In addition, this paper is also expected to help the parties who need it.
