

ABSTRACT

Recording data application is an application that can record data of production, maintenance and oil selling based on web, it purposed for data recording can be easier and make report presentation of production, maintenance and oil selling can be easier for area manager who takes responsibility for sekarkurung mining. Recording data of production, maintenance and oil selling application based on web supported by some user they are production supervisor, technician, sales supervisor and area manager. This application was manufactured by Hypertext Preprocessor (PHP) programming language and MySQL for database on this application. Final result from this research is an recording data of production, maintenance and oil selling application based on web

Keywords: Application, Data, PHP, MySQL