

ABSTRACT

Latin Greek term found in biology, especially the classification of organisms. In 1735 Carolus Linnaeus created the system of nomenclature to facilitate communication among biological scientists about the types of organisms and the language used is Latin Greek. However, to learn the Latin Greek term found problems that is the interest of the student to memorize, how to read and how to write the Latin Greek term. Based on this problems so that made the application of Latin Greek term. This application is useful as a media of learning for students in high school grade 1. Besides that, this application also can be a new instructional media interactive for teachers. This application is built with programming language HTML (HyperText Markup Language), PHP (PHP Hypertext Preprocessor), CSS (Cascading Style Sheets), Javascript and use MySQL as the database server. The application execution method is ADDIE model. Based on tests conducted to teachers and students, it can be concluded that this application can help learning Greek term learning in State High School 1 of Dayeuhkolot, Bandung.

Keywords: Latin Greek term, HTML, Interactive