

ABSTRACT

This final project aims to develop the potential utilization of waste aluminum as a product accessories. Aluminum is a metal that has properties of light, so it could be merged. These materials are used in a wide area not only for equipment household appliances but also in the world of industry, construction materials and other applications. The lack of knowledge in the use of aluminum waste on fashion products, give an idea to the writer to develop innovation of aluminum waste material in the form of a product accessories. As for any other purpose in the use of aluminum waste is to reduce environmental pollution. The benefits of the study provide a new alternative with knowledge in the use of aluminum waste as a product accessories. Limitation issues in research using waste material aluminum smelting technique that creates a product of the selected exploration. The research method taken through books, journals, articles, theses that discuss aluminum and fashion textile. The final goal of this research is to produce fashion products such as accessories.

Keywords : Aluminum, Accessories, Fashion, Unisex