

ABSTRACT

Globalization affects the growth of the fashion industry that spawned many innovations examples for material exploration which is present in every elements of fashion products and become a symbol of a person's identity. Some of the material innovations that exists today such as aluminum waste utilization, a dress made of raw beef, and other material that unexpected like latex. Latex potential is quite considerable because latex is a natural material from rubber trees that easy to dry and has a unique character. On this research latex will be processed by handmade to be applied on fashion products such as bag.

Keywords: Accessories, latex, bag