NARRATIVE ANALYSIS ON THE MAIN REPORT OF TEMPO MAGAZINE: "MAHAR PAMAN PELEPAS SANDERA" MAY 9th EDITION

Nu'man Ghossany

Abstract

Narration is on of the way to represent the report by using storytelling style which makes the reader keeps reading because of the characteristic of narrative style makes the reader feels as though they feel what happened in the report. The example is Tempo magazine which tells about the release of Abu Sayyaf's hostages. The reader can feel as though what happened in the event. This research discuss about the narrative structure and narrative character on the main report of Tempo magazine entitled Mahar Paman Pelepas Sandera. In this research, researcher also wants to know how Tempo magazine construct this event.

The main theory used in this research is mass media construction theory which is connected to the narrative theory modified by Nick Lacey and narrative character by Vladimir Propp.

The method used in this research are constructivist paradigma with qualitative approach, and use narrative analysis to see how Tempo magazine construct the hostages release event by using narrative structure and narrative's character on the main report in May, 9th 2016 edition.

The result of this research shows that Tempo magazine wants to consruct the report's content which is Yayasan Sukma is the one who rescue the hostages. In the narration, Tempo magazine suspects the rescue team lead by Kivlan Zen have pay the ransom, so the hostages can be released.

Word order: Narrative Analysis, Structure, Character