

ABSTRACT

Reclamation in the Gulf of Benoa Bali a hot issue. Pros and cons were raised a topic that should be discussed because of various considerations. Party pros and cons of Benoa Bay reclamation of a social phenomenon in society. Powers that control the media has implications for how audiences are growing with the surrounding medium or on awakening. In the website bali.tribunnews.com whether it has the aim of supporting the government or otherwise related to aspects of political economy. This research study method of critical discourse analysis Theo Van Leeuwen with critical paradigm. The data collection is done by observation and documentation text. Data obtained from the search of news on the website bali.tribunnews.com in connection with reclamation Benoa Bay as well as of several other backup sources.

The results of this study indicate that the news about the Benoa Bay reclamation issues and not guaranteed objectivity and neutrality or the last element in explaining the benefit of a party that fact. Media bali.tribunnews.com in the news regarding the reclamation of Benoa Bay still found no depiction of social actors or stakeholders are represented well and there are others who portrayed poorly. Linkage to the political economy aspects for the benefit of one party or group that can be seen in the analysis of the text of the news that in the context of the political economy aspects of government, investors and the people who become the rejection of society against the government's plan as well as the political economy aspects are also at the core of the problems in bali.tribunnews.com news website.

Keywords: Media Text Analysis, Critical Discourse Analysis, Benoa Bay Reclamation