

ABSTRACT

This application is built using Hypertext Preprocessor and is intended to look at the crash data calculate the data through the website accident compensation. This application is easy to user because the user no longer need come the office Jasa Raharja to file an insurance claim, it is a web based application. Each time the user will make filling the application form, the user must login. After filling in the necessary data further, admin will counting the cost of accident compensation. Then admin will print the cost of accident compensation and benefits evidence given by the Jasa Raharja and victim can take the cost of accident compensation.

Keywords: Application, Hypertext Preprocessor, Website, Insurance Claim