

ABSTRACT

---

At Primary School Ar-Rafi' there is a book called children's books pious, where the book is used by the school as a link between the school and parents in the home to provide information about student learning in school and for communication between teachers and parents. But sometimes this book miss at home by students, so the teacher can not charge the student a daily journal of activities. Therefore, it takes an Android-based application that can facilitate teachers in completing activities of daily journal and also facilitate the students' parents in monitoring the development of children in school. This application is used by the homeroom teacher, subject teachers and parents. This application is built using a prototype method by using the Java language and MySQL as the database server.

Keywords: primary school Ar-Rafi', daily journal, android app, Mysql