

ABSTRACT

The purpose of this study is to determine how the competence of employees in Bandung Techno Park, how the employee's performance Bandung Techno Park, and how much influence of the competence of employees on employee performance Bandung Techno Park.

This research uses quantitative methods. In this study is the integration between descriptive and causal research with statistical analysis techniques and data collection using questionnaires and interviews. This study use a sample of 39 respondents who are employees of Bandung Techno Park and sampling method using Probability Sampling with saturated sampling method.

Based on the hypothesis test states, that the competence of the employees have a positive and significant influence on employee performance.

Keyword : Competence Employees. Employee Performance. Bandung Techno Park