

ABSTRACT

Nowadays Information Technology needed by most people, Since the development cellular technologies, most of the user is also increasing. Therefore, the services that offered by the provider to community becomes increasing day by a day. One of service is Wireless Application Protocol (WAP) Technology. By using WAP we can get information very easy and communicate easier because we can access the information just by mobile phone.

Information System Application in WAP format for Percikan Iman Foundation is a application which it can give a simple service to take many information about foundation's activity and book's catalogue. Beside that, the system can also give a facilitate for the customers like order the books and magazines just from their mobile phone.

There are two subjects can using this application, a public as users and Percikan Iman Foundation as administrator or system management. The administrator is admin system and responsible for all information system and data.

Key Word: WAP, System information, Percikan Iman Foundation

STTTTELKOM