

ABSTRACT

Businesses which adapt the rapid development of information technology, encouraging business competition. Every business person compete to capture market share and reach out to customers to use the products or services on offer from their company. Sumber Hidup car repair is still using manual systems to manage auto garage business is mainly in terms of item data management, customer data management, supplier data management, data management, transaction of purchase and sale transaction management profit reports.

To be able to support it all, needed an application that can help the process of existing transactions in Sumber Hidup, assist in the management of data items as well as inventory taking process and assist in the preparation of reports required by management. Making web-based applications in the Sumber Hidup begins by studying and analyzing the problems contained in this Sumber Hidup car repair.

With the use of these applications, Sumber Hidup car repair can manage data items and all kinds of administrative problems, for example in terms of processing customer data, supplier data processing and transaction processing purchases and sales in the Sumber Hidup car repair.

Keywords : Sumber Hidup Car repair , Auto Garage Application , Information Systems