

ABSTRACT

Tourism is all activities, facilities and services that caused by the temporary transfer of travel from a person to another place from home. When traveling certainly tourists need a temporary place to live. However, at this time still there is less information about the hotel that is appropriate or close to their tourist destination. Also the lack of information of cheap hotels and provide good facilities but not getting so many customers. The solution provided is to create a web-based application that can help the tourists in planning their tour trips ranging from attractions, hotels and transportation. In this hotel reservation module has several features such as hotel recommendations according to tourist attraction, hotel information, hotel reservation, comment and rating of hotel. For the hotel can register it is hotel in this application with admin confirmation and manage hotel reservation.
