

ABSTRACT

---

The development of information technology is very rapidly making a lot of people who do everything based on an application, the internet and especially websites so that the impact for some people leave the search process manually. Making the application of tourism recommendations Indonesia-based web transport module is to support tourists who plan a trip to a place from afar. Functionalities that exist in the application of Indonesia-based travel recommendations web transportation modules include the registration function, hereinafter there is a login function using a previously registered account, performing transport searches, adding transport data, updating transportation data, and also transportation data can be a recommendation when viewing objects Tours. This application is built with software development method, namely Prototype with PHP programming language and CI framework. In the database management will be used MySQL. The tools used are starUML to create design diagrams, sublime text 3 for encoding, and xampp to help the course of the program. With this application, tourists can easily plan their excursions, especially to choose transportation, and also can choose transportation with the appropriate budget price.

Keywords: Transportation, Website, Tourists, PHP, Code Igniter