

ABSTRACT

Web Based Application Fairuz Wedding Organizing is an application is used to facilitate people around West Java to give information, reservation package selection and simulation cost of wedding with website. This application using SDLC Method Waterfall. The building for application use framework CI and programming language Php for database using Mysql. The application is used for admin as a server, the customer as a visitor and member who could use all features in application.

Keywords: Wedding organizer, information, website