

ABSTRACT

This research titled “women perpetrators of corruption : Analysis Framing the news media Online in the case of Ratu Atut Chosiyah”. This research discussed about how the news media Online Detik.com and Tempo.co subject a reality of criminal acts of corruption with women as suspects them. Both of these cases have suspects women, media online so many presents the preaching about their private life. So inversely by news about the corruption case involving men as suspects in the case of them who is more suitable preach how strong them to face of the case that is come upon them. The method used in this research is a qualitative research method with the theory analysis of Framing model of Robert N. Entman that focus on the composition of aspects and the emphasis of the words. The object of this research is the preaching about corruption cases that are done by Ratu Atut Chosiyah. The paradigm used in this research is constructivism paradigm. The results of this research found that the news published by the Detik.com and Tempo.co more preaching about the luxurious life of from the perpetrators of corruption, so that the suspects in corruption case involving gender women as suspects them become more here with the composition and emphasis words that in the news. In addition found also that there are assumptions that is directed by the online media that aims to make the reader have a negative view of gender women who rushed out in the world of politics.

Key Words : Analysis of Framing, Composition, Emphasis Words, Media Online