

DAFTAR PUSTAKA

- A Surekshkumar, S. M. (2014). Design and Development of Selective Tea Leaf Plucking Robot. 45-48.
- Boothroyd. (n.d.).
- Cross, N. (2008). Engineering Design Methods : Strategies for Product Design. New Jersey: John Wiley and Sons.
- Eppinger, U. &. (2012). Product Design and Development. New York: McGrawHill.
- Geoffrey, B. (2002). Product Design for Manufacture and Assembly. New York: Marcel Dekker.
- Kamau, D. (2008). Productivity and Resources use in ageing tea plantations.
- Michel Kalyun, T. W. (2012). Application of a Design Method for Manufacture and Assembly, 29.
- Rahayu, M. (2015). Ergonomic Tool Design Tea Transport Process at PT. Perkebunan Nusantara VIII. 2nd International Conference on Emerging Trends In Academic Research, 109.
- Ranaweera, P. (2016). Selection of Harvestable Tea Shoots Based on Heights and Stiffness. Proceedings of the 1st Manufacturing & Industrial Engineering Symposium.
- Stienstra, D. (2004). Introduction to Design for (Cost Effective Assembly and Manufacturing).
- Talawakelle. (2003). Design and Development of Selective Tea Leaf Plucking Robot. Automatic Control and Information Sciences.
- Warson M, B. H. (1982). The Use of Plucking Machines for Harvesting Tea. 58-66.
- Yen, T. N. (2012). Product Simplification Design Improvement by Using DFMA Method.