Technological developments are increasingly sophisticated certainly bring positive impact on many sectors of life, one of which is the Telecommunications that has become human needs in the modern era as it is today. The need for high telecommunication makes service providers work hard to deliver the best results for consumers, to provide the best results of communication service workers have long working hours. In addition, service to consumers must always be excellent and dedicated, to support the activities of workers needed office with all kinds of facilities and infrastructure. Office is a place where the activities of telecommunication services take place, both personally and in general involving many people.

The place of all activities of this worker certainly requires a special attention to the existing interior elements, because the elements of the interior has a major influence on the psychological workers who are in it. The interior of a comfortable work space will have a positive impact on workers who spend much time working in the office. Factors affecting the interior of the room include the elements of space (roof, wall, floor) and decorations accents that are inside, this will give a different impression on the interior of the office that always seemed stiff and boring. This not only can be useful for the office users themselves, but visitors and special guests who come for having a particular purpose.
