

ABSTRACT

---

TB Wargi Putra is a trading company which engaged in the construction materials. The transaction accrued in this company include sale. Procurement and supply. Receivables is an invoice from other parties in an exact time due to the credit transaction. Receivable management is required to develop its receivable so that the credit policy can be optimally achieved. The type of receivable in this company is short-term receivable which means it is not required a long time for acquittance. This application based on web development which designed with SDLC method (system development life cycle waterfall) with PHP language and MySQL.

Keywords: Accounts Receivable Management, Accounts Receivable, Web Based Application