ABSTRACT

The Agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development (the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development or SDGs) is a new development agreement that encourages shifting changes toward sustainable development based on human rights and equity to promote social, economic and environmental development. SDGs / TPB are enforced with universal, integration and inclusive principles to ensure that no one will be missed or "No-one Left Behind".

One of the areas where the implementation of SDGs is Lombok Island. With endless nature tourism to explore, total tourist arrivals to NTB are 3,508,903 tourists, 2,078,654 of which are domestic or international tourists and 1,430,249 foreign tourists. One of the biggest income of Lombok Island is from tourists in Gili Trawangan with about 3000 people visiting each day visiting the exotic island.

With so fast visitors who come, not escape the problems that arise. Like ecology and economic problems in Gili Trawangan. Therefore, the authors want to link the existing SDGs program in Indonesia with the phenomenon of tourists swelling which resulted in unequal distribution in Gili Trawangan. With the media in the form of a documentary film duration of 15 minutes to be able to illustrate the problems that currently occur.
