

ABSTRACT

In today's modern life that tends to be heavy, communication is usually done more by using each gadget. This is due to the increasingly dense routine work between individuals so that the time to meet to meet is felt less. Therefore, the holiday is a day long awaited by people, especially people who live in urban areas. Various ways are done by the community in spending spare time, one of which is to eat together. With food can foster relationships that are the key to social relationships. Because in the meal together is able to bring social bonds among individuals with each other. Besides gathering meals together while traveling can also bring memories for each individual. One of today's tourist attractions is Jatigede Reservoir located on Sumedang Regency. In this study, researchers used qualitative research methods with data collection techniques through observation, interview and literature study. The purpose of this design is to design a dining facility as well as a place to relax based on psychological studies that can bring the impression of protection, warmth, kinship, and togetherness.

Keywords: Society, holidays, psychology, Jatigede Reservoir, tourism, meals together, social relationships