The design method used is divided into two stages, the first stage is data collection, including: literature study on hotels and resorts and also Sundanese cultural architecture houses. The second is a study of precedents about hotels and resorts as well as houses of Sundanese traditional architecture.

The selection of the Turtumaninah group concept to be applied to hotels and resorts is based on the philosophy of Sundanese traditional houses and the surrounding natural atmosphere, matching Sundanese traditional houses and also mountain hotel resorts, in accordance with the domicile of hotel and resort design. This concept was applied by incorporating elements of form, lighting, materials, and other interior applications such as ceiling processing, walls and floors, as well as the addition of aesthetic elements in lieu of Sundanese traditional house ornaments and elevating the local and surrounding customary philosophy.
