ABSTRACT

Teaching by using technology can help the tasks of educators and help foster interest in learning independently and help students creativity. Communication tools are media used to disseminate or convey information, be it information to one person or to many people. This communication tool also not only convey information but also produce information. The material of communication tool is in kindergarten Darul Hikam II in class B. In this final project will be built application that will assist the teacher in the process of teaching the material of communication tool. The method used in the process of building this application is a waterfall model, and tools used are adobe flash. From blackbox test results and UAT the use of applications made quite acceptable, this is because the narration on the material is less audible, while the visualization presented is well received.
