

ABSTRACT

Application of service and aspiration of Cipagalo village web based community is an application to facilitate citizen and employee in conducting the filing of letter and aspiration submission. This application was built to facilitate the service time at the village office, facilitating in channeling aspirations to the village office and providing access to information dissemination from the village office to the residents. This application is created using the Prototype workmanship method until the implementation stage. This application is built using PHP programming language with Codeigniter framework as user interface and MySQL as database. This application aims to support the process of filing certificates, making aspirations for citizens and reporting certificates, and reports of aspirations made by employees who can be applied and develop the village to be better able to prosper the citizens.

Keywords: Application, Public, Aspiration, Prototype, Village.