

ABSTRACT

The condition of abandoned children in Indonesia is currently very apprehensive. While the child is the successor of the nation that has the right to get education, maintenance and protection. So the need of institutions that can be used as an alternative to the care of children and facilitate the needs of children both physically and psychologically the Orphanage. Child Care House Child Care in Bandung, was established on August 11, 1949 on the idea of the association of women Budi Istri Bandung Center. Orphanage located on Jl. Galunggung No.23, Lkr. Selang, Lengkong, Bandung City, it aims to provide education and mediation to children in seeking and determining the right direction for the future with family and religious patterned care. In addition, the Orphanage also meets the needs of abandoned children in shaping the development of children physically, mentally and socially. Not just a place to live, orphanage is also an external element that affects the development of foster children become more positive and independent. For that, the authors review the study of orphanage in terms of spatial planning, ergonomics, materials, referring to the minimum service standards of orphanage to produce an orphanage design with due regard to the function and initial goals of the orphanage, and to implement the activity and facilities program into a design visual interior design

Keyword: orphanage, children, design, Bandung