

ABSTRACT

Saturate and boredom are often experienced child passengers at the train station while waiting for arrival on the train due to waiting for the arrival of the train, so that various alternatives are carried out by the passengers to eliminate boredom. Not only adult passengers but children passengers need entertainment to eliminate boredom and boredom while waiting for the train to arrive at the station. Various ways are carried out by the passengers to eliminate fatigue while waiting for the arrival of the awaited train, which is playing gadgets and not often chatting casually with other passengers. For some passengers, children when waiting for the train to arrive will easily get bored, so it is not uncommon for children to get angry and cry easily. Not all parents prepare toys for children when traveling, including when traveling by train.