ABSTRACT

The game industry is one part of the creative economy in Indonesia which has enormous potential. The growth of the game industry continues to increase every year. Every year even around 100 new games are born by game developers. This makes many of the opportunities to start and run a business especially the number of start-up offices of game developers who take advantage of this great potential. Game Developer is a profession where someone makes a game or game with a particular programming language that will be published. Agate Game Developer is one of the offices of digital game developers in Indonesia. The more game production increases, the Agate office needs a new office to manage the office. Agate requires a central office that can load all employees in accordance with the company's organizational structure and clear space layout with a design that shows the identity of the company to support all office activities so as to increase productivity and management and reach better jobs.
