

ABSTRACT

Nila Konveksi is a business on a home scale with a small classification that produces a lot of clothing that is located at Jl. Bermawi RT 001 RW 002, Pakan Labuh Subdistrict, Aur Birugo Tigo Baleh District, Bukittinggi City, West Sumatra. Nila Konveksi produces various types of school clothes, especially school clothes for female and female students according to customer orders. In producing clothing, this company prioritizes seam neatness, competitive prices, and timely production completion in accordance with the agreement or with previous consumers. Based on the current condition of the company where the production process occurs when customers make orders based on their needs, the amount needed, and the determination of product completion time based on what is needed, the just in time method is very suitable to be applied to this company.

Keywords: 1. Value Convection 2. production 3. just in time