Stress is an inherent thing in everyday life and can happen to anyone in different forms, intensities and times. The cause of increased stress can be removed by various factors as an example of occupational factors. This can be overcome in various ways such as vacation or traveling. One of the tourist cities famous for its tourism is the city of Bandung. With a strategic location, Bandung is suitable to be used as a vacation spot while relieving stress caused by daily activities. To support this, support is needed, namely a lodging that supports tourists or business people who come to this city. Designing City Four Star Hotels in Dago, Bandung is one of the facilities designed to provide different things for visitors by using the concept of relaxation with the theme "nature in space" with the aim of creating relaxed comforts such as those available in nature.
