Hakim, Raymon Tri Rijal. 2020. Directing a Short Film About the lack of Job Opportunities for Deaf Mute Disabilities in Purbalingga. Final Task. Visual Communication Design Study Program. School of Creative Industries.. Telkom University.

The Deaf Mute Disability is a person who has limited hearing and speaking disabilities. People often assume that people with disabilities as deaf mute cannot work like normal people because of their limitations. One appropriate way to make a deaf mute disabled work is training and empowerment to work like normal people. Many people with deaf mute disabilities have the opportunity to work because many people do not believe that the deaf mute can not work optimally. Short films about the lack of opportunities to work for people with disabilities who are deaf-mute can provide information to the audience so that it is better if people with deaf-mute disabilities find it difficult to get work opportunities. Short film design about the lack of employment opportunities for people with disabilities to conduct research in order to obtain more valid data. The type of research used is qualitative research with a case study method. The design of this short film about the lack of employment opportunities for people with disabilities has the aim to show the lack of employment opportunities for deaf mute people in Purbalingga.
