

ABSTRACT

Deaz, Muhammad Arika. 2020. Editing a Short film Sekantung Curiga. Final Project. Visual Communication Design. Faculty of Creative Industries. Telkom University.

The use of mass media as news dissemination, one of which is false news if the user does not have a critical attitude, it can cause stereotypes. Stereotyping that lead to bad feelings on an individual subject or a Muslim group are considered extremist. This happens because the lack of critical thinking in public that is easily entangled in filter bubbles the way of the community towards Muslims who are considered extremist. The purpose of the research as efforts to reduce Stereotyping towards Muslims. The study uses a qualitative method with the psychological perception approach. Editing is important for making films according to narrative aspects. Styling editing using montage techniques. The film 'Sekantung Curiga' shows the negative impact of Stereotyping on the social environment. The use of short films is a form of addressing and efforts to reduce stereotypical attitudes towards Muslims based on appearance.

Keywords: Stereotypes, Muslim Extremists, Appearance, Short Films, Editing.