

ABSTRACT

Recipe book is a compilation of recipes that is used as an information and guides for its reader to cook. Recipe books in general are targeted towards women especially mothers. Recently cooking class for children and cooking competitions such as Masterchef Junior Indonesia have becoming a trend. Based from this phenomenon, shows that high interests towards cooking for children both boys and girls but cooking books for children are a rarity in book stores. Due to that circumstances, a medium for children to better understand cooking books they are reading is needed. Methods used for gathering data includes observation, interviews, literature study, and questionnaires. The result of this recipe book design with illustrations is hoped to be a better guide book for children and people who are new to cooking that is easier to understand to help them learn the world of cooking.
