

ABSTRACT

Designing a Dressing Room for Children in the Regol Park

Activities outside the home are fun plus if there is a game it will be very fun, the park is one of the fun places a lot of activities ranging from hanging out with friends or family, sitting relaxed, or just sitting for a moment to eliminate fatigue, other than that function of parks in urban areas is to add visual beauty and is expected to be able to act as a container or gathering place.

Judging from the condition of the Regol Park with the limited available land and the lack of supporting facilities for visitors such as changing rooms, the authors conducted trials to create a dressing room with a unique concept and eye-catching with a portable system. Where the unique concept is meant, is to make a place to change clothes with the shape preferred by children, such as the shape of eggs made from wood fiber and then colored according to the child-friendly theme, as a marker of gender that also serves to add beauty Taman Regol at night.

The problem encountered in Regol Park is the number of visitors who are confused when they will change clothes before or after water activities in Regol Park. Therefore many visitors change clothes in any place that reduces the beauty of the park.
