

ABSTRACT

This writing aims to describe the process of designing a product is jewelry. A jewelry is a unit consisting of several parts and other components which are assembled into one, with various shape and designs. At present the use of jewelry in the community is not merely a beautification of themselves, but has started as a symbol of wealth, protection, of religion, marriage, as an art tool. Types of jewelry are now various styles, jewelry can also show a person character based on the jewelry used.

Many types or models of jewelry that are developing now, many people who want to make jewelry designs according to what they want. Jewelry is one that has made basic needs for some people, but among children and adults. Jewelry manufacturing world is increasingly well developed. The development jewelry in Indonesia can help national economic growth. Small and medium industries, jewelry models and designs are also growing year by year. The processing of saga seeds is chosen to make jewelry products from aspects and aesthetics and function enhance your appearance in terms models and styles. The function is used as a jewelry material for the methods of experimentation and exploration of the saga seeds.

Keywords: Saga Seeds, Processing, Jewelry