

ABSTRACT

One obstacle when caring for cats is that they often forget to feed regularly when they have to leave, and it takes a long time to think about how to feed cats at home. With this tool you can manage pet food that is maintained by cats with ease, control it with the application and then automatically make cat food down then available at the cat's place to eat and there is a weight sensor on the device that can see this food is still available or not by looking at the phone through the application, the weight of the food in the container will bring up the weight figure of the food.
