

Abstract

Intermedia is a branch of fine arts that is often referred to as new media. Understanding of new media is generally understood as online media, internet media or even the latest devices that are still evolving technology over time.

The medium of work in fine arts is divided into physical and visual elements, along with the development of technology today there are new mediums used in creating works by artists in Indonesia and overseas artists. The medium is called Virtual Reality. Virtual reality is used to create a virtual reality that is different from the real world but can be felt by the human senses that present an experience in the form of visuals. In an art exhibition that uses virtual reality as an experience.

Humans survive by relying on nature, but there is an irony where humans often damage and do not care about nature itself. In the neighborhood where the author lives, there is often the behavior of land burning which results in many victims ranging from the environment, health and even the lives of a person. Therefore the author tries to visualize the relationship between humans and nature's damage in a virtual reality work entitled "Feel the Nature".

Keywords: Virtual Reality, sense, Nature, forest fires, immersive experience