

ABSTRACT

New Interior Design Office of the National Narcotics Agency (BNN) in Bandung

The National Narcotics Agency of Bandung City, commonly called BNNKB, has a task in implementing P4GN, namely prevention is carried out by providing education to the community, eradicating abuse is carried out by providing rehabilitation to abusers who are reported to the City BNN, eradicating drug dealers then arrest and temporary detention in accordance with applicable regulations . The perpetrators of activities in the BNNKB office are administrative employees, health officials, public visitors / institutions who want to be educated, visitors who need drug-free documents, outpatients, prisoners and the families of patients and detainees. Each task implementation requires facilities, such as education in prevention requiring a showroom to educate on the types of drugs and knowledge of drug side effects on the body through exhibition media and technology such as LCDs, holograms, and interactive media such as touchscreens. As for the auditorium to hold counseling seminars on drugs, socialization of annual activities, public exhibitions which are held annually in commemoration of anti-drug day and to receive visits from outside such as from schools and other institutions. This design will design the BNN office in accordance with the design standards set by the head of the National Narcotics Agency for each office using a space user behavior approach, because in this office there are several types of users according to their respective activities which result in different facilities needed.
