

ABSTRACT

Aprilliando Aditya Putra

Interior Design, Faculty of Creative Industries, Telkom University

Telekomunikasi Street, Number.1, Terusan Buah Batu, Sukapura, Bandung, West Java, 40257

Transportation is still a daily activities needs .Of its efforts to improve technology development for transportation anything that is not only to these include alone and can be accessed easily through always-on gadgets in the form of transportation application services .Grab is one of many application services transportation services in it as grabbike , grabcar , grabfood and still many more , this business had already spread almost all areas in indonesia .With the existence of this application of many partners that work together to provide the best services and mutual benefit.

Grab a community service especially for the partner such that needed the services to facilitate complaints and newcomers willing to join to grab a partner and to interact with others grab partner and the creation of a together to the employees grabpun also created, dynamic study open and can interact well among employee and employer without any definite limits as well as to facilitate the working room that is comfortable and can improve performance in, work interior design and grab the office in bandung should be for the needs of the employees or to grab partner

With the results of the design is able to give a good impression to partner or public about grab who see the needs of konsumennya .Grab identity can also be a clear by having fear of and companies already profile becomes one of company decacorn so that the creation of the service locations which is comfortable.

Keyword : Technology development , online transportation , grab , the identity of the company