Indonesia has a wealth of diverse fauna, a series of records and records of suitability are owned by this country. Fauna that is often extinct, namely reptiles, reptiles, which are often referred to as reptiles, are a group of cold-blooded vertebrates and usually have scales on their skin. Reptiles are one of the tetrapods (four limbs). Currently in Bekasi City the community is developing gradually depending on the goals and ability to manage the people who are members of it. The existence of conditions that facilitate this makes someone's love for something can be channeled. The development of reptile animal community activities in Bekasi City is not balanced with the available facilities. It can be seen that there is a special place for the community and the reptile animal community that can accommodate the activities of the reptile animal community.

The purpose of this design is to design a reptile animal community center based on space requirements in accordance with community activities. With the following targets: bubble, zoning, blocking and concepts. This design uses the Glass Box Method and Field Studies. Where the glass box is to get an interior design concept from several steps. The first step to determine the layout design is obtained from the floor plan area, then the location arrangement is according to user needs and is drawn with a bubble diagram. From the bubble diagrams are connected with additional literature and concepts.

The results of designing a reptile animal community center so that it can be used in accordance with community activities, namely designing and planning a reptile animal community center facility so that it can be used in accordance with community activities and activities, applying the concept in the discussion area of the reptile animal community association, and implementing an interior atmosphere in the animal community center reptile.
