

ABSTRACT

Sport is a physical activity that is very useful for improving health. But awareness of exercise in Indonesia is still relatively low even though the benefits of exercise are well known. One of the places that is frequently visited for sports is the Gasibu field in Bandung, this field has a large field so that we can do activities such as sports or just relaxing for free time. However, public facilities that provide clean water are still lacking and therefore will be designed in the form of product that can provide clean water ready to drink. Designed this product for the purpose of adding Gasibu field facilities and attract visitors. Visitors are expected to be able to use this product when they feel thirsty.
