

ABSTRACT

Cleaning and beauty care services are currently still needed for all people, currently there are still many beauty care service providers or cleaning services still processing data and transactions manually, many problems occur such as data searching. Therefore we create applications that can assist service providers in selling their services and managing service and transaction data. The web-based cleaning and beauty care application, by joining with several experienced salons and cleaning services, provides several types of services that will be sold to consumers with service providers directly visiting the customer's residence (Home Services).

Keywords: Home Service, Cleaning Service, Beauty Treatment