

ABSTRACT

---

Posyandu is an activity to organize health development, especially to achieve the ability to live a healthy life for infants, toddlers and toddlers. The existence of posyandu is very much needed by the community to provide information about health, nutrition and information education about health. Services in the effort to care for pregnant women, maternity mothers, breastfeeding mothers, babies, toddlers and preschool children at each puskesmas are often referred to as Maternal and Child Health services (KIA). In supporting data processing for posyandu service activities in Ilir Barat II, an application is made that can assist posyandu data processing. This Posyandu data processing application was created because of the many damage to the posyandu books, loss of data and accumulation of data. With this application it can help in simplifying data processing of posyandu service activities in Ilir Barat II, the processed data is entered into a database so that the data is stored properly.

Keywords: Posyandu, Application, KIA