

ABSTRACT

The development of the internet, which is increasingly advanced, followed by rapid technological advances, is one of the driving factors for the development of e-commerce so that it must master and follow in accordance with the current era both in the service and product sectors. Online service marketing is something that many consumers need because it makes it easier for them to get the services they need. Therefore, here we make a beauty treatment service and cleaning services application that can be used by all types of ages that can be ordered via web by joining several experienced salons and cleaning services and providers can go directly to the customer house or home service (Home Service).

Keywords: Cleaning Services and Beauty Treatment Services.