

ABSTRACT

Disability is a condition of someone who experiences physical and mental limitations that cause difficulties in carrying out certain roles. From various categories, physical disabilities have a high enough number in people of productive age, including in the city of Cilegon. With the special abilities and needs of each type or category of diffable, people with disabilities also have activities that require daily transportation that accommodate these special needs. Of the various modes of transportation, city buses exist as an inexpensive mode of transportation with a fairly wide range within the city of Cilegon. However, people with disabilities are reluctant to use city buses again due to difficulties in sitting facilities which are not ideal for walker user.

From the state of the existing city buses, there are problems regarding difficulties in seating that do not suit the user's condition both in size, shape and safety. These problems create opportunities to design city buses that are easy to use for disabled people using walker in the city of Cilegon in terms of access and seating facilities.
