

Abstract

Hand is one of the human body's part who have soo many function one of these are carrying stuff, but human's hand capability for carrying stuff are very limited , . Due to those problem a product made to used for carrying so many stuff, the product is called bag. Bag was made for helping human carrying a lot of stuff. There are ao many types of bag, they are, backpack, suitcase, waist bag, sling bag, etc. but this report only focused toward waist bag.

Waist bag, just like any other types of bag still designed only for outdoor ultization both for only doing regular outdoor activity or when doing far away trip. Even though of of the people who do far away trip most probably will use bigger sized bag such a backpack or even suitcase , but still it can't be denied that on far away trip there are some types of stuff that would be used and put down multiple times by the user. Because of that small sized bags like sling bag and waist bag still needed to carry smaller sized stuf that often used in trip such a mobile phone, wallet, etc. alongside that reason small sized bag still needed because when user want to take something from bigger size bag it would be hard because it pile up with other stuff. So stuff that will commonly used in trip could just put down in small sized bag. Hopefully this design will effectively help traveller
