

ABSTRACT

During this Covid-19 outbreak, many people are doing activities to spend time at home, especially for minors. Some people get rid of boredom by playing games. Game is a means of entertainment that is used as a means of information and education, especially for minors who have great curiosity. Most of the minors play games with educational genre, so they can learn a lot about things around them, such as safety and hygiene. This study aims to educate minors to get used to living clean and free from germs.

Based on the results of a survey of 30 respondents, that this game is quite feasible to play because 100% of respondents said this game is quite interesting to play, 90% of respondents said this game is not too difficult to play, and 80% of respondents stated that the graphics are quite adequate. It can be concluded that this research can help minors/other users get used to living healthy and free from germs, by playing Pest Control games at home.
