

ABSTRACT

UPT Bung Hatta Proclaimer Library is one of the special libraries plus under the auspices of the National Library of the Republic of Indonesia. The existence of this library is a place to find references and provide literature for the people of Bukittinggi City to improve their quality of life and welfare. Visitors from this library are not only the people of Bukittinggi City, but also from outside the City of Bukittinggi. Following the times, the library paradigm began to shift into an open space for the community. This library redesign aims to create a library room layout that is arranged based on its function and to create a space that can provide a positive stimulus to space users. The methodology applied to this design is through the results of observations, interviews and literature. Through this design, it is expected that space zoning problems and other interior problems in the library can be resolved, so as to increase comfort and a positive atmosphere for library users.
