

ABSTRAC

Bandung Baptist Christian School is a private school that provides learning on the basis of educational rules that refer to the 2013 curriculum and the Christian religious curriculum. There is a transition of building functions from all three levels, namely Kindergarten, Elementary and Junior High School, into one level, namely Junior High School. This school has a goal or aspiration to prioritize the mental condition of every child, making a comfortable school, this is sustainable with the character of junior high school children. Learning at this school starts from 07.00 until 15.00 in the afternoon from Monday to Friday with a learning load in one day for 7.6 hours that occurs in the classroom. This states that the classroom has an important role for students, especially in their psychological condition.

Classrooms at Bandung Baptist Christian School have not realized the psychological needs of users where learning hours are not balanced with resting hours or children's playing time so that classrooms are needed that can meet psychological needs in accordance with the character of junior high school children. The application of the psychological approach to children's character is expected to be a solution to increase motivation and enthusiasm for learning by presenting a creative and not boring atmosphere.

Keywords: School, students, character, psychological.