

ABSTRACT

Insan Cendekia Madani or ICM is under the auspices of the Yayasan Edukasi Sejahtera. This school itself is an international-based boarding school based in the South Tangerang area. The Islamic Boarding School education system is a general education system with Islamic education where students live in dormitories with 24-hour learning activities at school and in dormitories. The system is considered superior so that interest in attending ICM soars. Through interviews, surveys and questionnaires, it was concluded that the main and supporting facilities in the school building should be further improved to make students comfortable and conducive in carrying out learning activities. So one way to improve the comfort and performance of the main facilities and school support is to bring nature into the learning environment by applying the concept of biophilic design. This design is expected to be a solution in improving the quality of facilities, infrastructure and providing comfort to students in activities in the school environment.
